

Q3 2014 ISSUES AND PROGRAMS LIST
WPGA-TV

CONSOLIDATION: Voters approved the consolidation of Macon and Bibb County governments beginning in 2014. The transition from two governments to the new consolidated one has not been without hitches, but the willingness of newly elected board members to work together has made it a smoother transition than anticipated. Residents have been updated regularly through the local media.

HEALTH CARE: Many middle Georgians are uninformed about many health problems. Coliseum Health Systems, Dr. Johnny Gayton, local optometrist, Melody Faircloth of the health supplement store Willow Tree and others appear on Mix in the Morning regularly with health tips in many fields.

ECONOMY AND JOBS: The unemployment rate in middle Georgia does fluctuate, depending on the season, but during most times of the year, it is as high or higher than the state average. Regular reports on the unemployment issue and public service announcements help to keep the public informed of the trends.

ROBINS AIR FORCE BASE: Robins Air Force Base is the largest single employer in middle Georgia, and is a vital player in the economy of the area. Constant confirmation of the community's support of the base help to keep the base open and flourishing. With periodical BRAC assessments, it's important that those in higher places know that the community appreciates the value of the base and supports it's efforts. Periodical releases from the office of information, 21st Century Partnerships and other base-related organizations and our own news department help this station keep the public updated

EDUCATION: This is not only a class-room issue, but one that encompasses education on issues that concern the community, information on programs that assist residents and progress made in consolidating educational institutions to reduce costs while adding availability.

ANIMAL CONTROL: Efforts continue to convince pet owners to have dogs and cats spayed or neutered to control the growing population. While this is next to impossible where animals are abandoned and left to roam freely, spaying and neutering will continue to downsize and control the pet population. Programs of free spaying and neutering is offered by several local businesses. The process for adopting pets is also covered.

CRIME: Overall, crime is a nationwide problem. Middle Georgia is no different. Almost daily there are reports of murders, armed robberies, assaults, car-jackings, or lesser crimes. These stories are reported by WPGA to help inform the public on where crimes are being committed, urging the public to be especially cautious if they must travel, or if they live, in these high crime area.

CONSOLIDATION

July 1, 2014. Ron Wildman reports today that budget battles were not to be unexpected for the new Macon-Bibb County budget, since members of the new commission had served previously as either a Macon council member, or a Bibb commissioner. However, on Monday, the consolidated body unanimously agreed to a budget that adds nearly $700 thousand additional dollars to Mayor Robert Reichert's original spending plan. Commission member Mallory Jones was a no-show for the vote, and Gary Bechtel voted electronically from Germany.
